Instytut Badań i Innowacji w Edukacji [INBIE] presented two scientific researches in the International Conference „SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE” held on March 3, 2020 at the National Pedagogical University of M.P. Dragomanova in Kiev (Ukraine), at the Department of Social and Economic Education, in collaboration with Higher Linguistic School in Częstochowa (Poland).

Edyta Sadowska presented the researches carried out by Renata Ochoa-Daderska on „Adult social inclusion in a digital environment” and by Luis Ochoa Siguencia on “Professional use of information and communication technology: the ASIDE Project”. The researches presented the main goals and purposes of the Strategic Partnerships for adult education - Cooperation for innovation and the exchange of good practices project “ASIDE”, project number 2019-1-PL01-KA204-065689 been implemented from 01-09-2019 to 31-08-2021 by INBIE and partners from the Czech Republic, Turkey and Spain.

The main point of consideration for the invited guests and all participants of the conference was social work, its contemporary solutions, directions and areas of activity in both Poland and Ukraine.

Conference participants in the proposed thematic sections discussed topics related to social work and social inclusion in a digital era: broadly understood social work in modern times, modern information technologies serving to raise the professional competences of social workers in Poland and Ukraine.

The ASIDE project intends to support inclusive education and digital skills, improving the competences in digital social inclusion of adult social educators and adult social volunteers. Our project addresses social inclusion through the definition of a portfolio of basic digital competences that are necessary for developing Information and Communication Technology - based social inclusion initiatives / services.

The conference was held in a good, scientific atmosphere and certificates to the authors of the presentations were handed over.
